A MARRYING QUEEN OF LONDON SOCIETY.—Frances Countess Waldegrave, an acknowledged queen of London society, is the wife of Right Hon. Chichester Fortescue, a defeated candidate for Parliament from the Irish borough of Louth. Mr. Chichester Fortescue is not Lady Waldegrave's first husband; indeed, he is not her second; nay, he is not even her third. She has been led to the altar—always by a person of excellent lineage—four times. Thrice a widow, four times a wife she is still blooming, a belle, and, in sober earnest, handsome and winning. And yet, though her two husbands were Waldegraves, one of them an earl, and her two last respectively the grandson of an archbishop and the nephew of a baron, she herself could boast of but plebeian stock. She is, in short, a daughter of the famous Jewish tenor singer Braham, who delighted the fashionable audiences of London more than fifty years ago and was the Sims Reeves of his time.

The legal profession in England is hedged around by a curious chevaux de frise of antiquated customs and prejudices. One of these is that among lawyers only one class, the barristers, are allowed to plead, and to obtain admission to this class it is necessary to be admitted by one of the four Inns of Court in London, ancient legal associations dating back several centuries. An attempt has recently been made to uproot this custom by proving that the common idea of its being essential is erroneous, and that the judges may admit other persons than those called to the bar by the Inns. The question was brought before the Vice Chancellor's Court, but Vice Chancellor Sir Charles Hall decided that, as a judge of first instance, he had no jurisdiction. It is stated that the matter will not be allowed to rest, but will be argued until a definite decision is reached.

For the Recorder.

A BACHELOR'S DEFENCE.

Bachelor's are styled by married men, who have just put their boots into it, as only half perfected beings; cheerless vagabonds; half a pair of scissors and many other titles are given them; while on the other hand they extol their state as one of perfect bliss, that a change from earth to heaven would be somewhat of doubtful good. If they are so happy, why don't they enjoy their happiness, and hold their tongues about it? What do half the men get married for? Simply that they have some one to darn their stockings, sew buttons on their shirts, and trot their babies; that they may have somebody, to pull off their boots when they are a little balmy. Provided, they do not belong to a temperance society.) These fellows are always talking of the loneliness of bachelors. Loneliness indeed! Who is petted to death by ladies who have daughters, invited to tea and evening parties, and told to drop in, just when it is convenient? The bachelor! Who lives in clover all his days, and when he dies, has flowers strewn on his grave by the girls who couldn't entrap him? The bachelor. Who strews flowers on the married man's grave? His widow? Not a bit of it; she pulls down the tombstone that a four week's grief has set up in her heart, and goes and gets married again.—she does. Who goes to bed early, because time hangs heavily on his hands? The married man. Who has wood to split, house hunting and marketing to do, the young ones to wash, and the lazy servants to look after? The married man. Who is taken up for whipping his wife? The married man! Finally, who has got the scriptures on his side? The bachelor! St. Paul, who knew what he was talking about, said: 'He that marries, does well,—but he that marries not does better.'

FOOTE'S DUELS WITH S. S. PRENTISS.

A friend of the late S. S. Prentiss, of Mississippi, was at the point of death from an attack of mania a pote. For a week his physicians essayed every known remedy to put their patient to sleep, but in vain. Prentiss knew that Foote had made a visit to Texas. He was nursing his sick friend when a consultation of the doctors was hopeless unless the patient could be put to sleep, but that they would exhaust all the means known to the profession.

Prentiss sprung from his seat and said to the doctors, 'Give him Foote's book on Texas to read, and I will insure its soporific effect.' The remark of Prentiss was too good a joke to be kept, and it reached the ear of Foote, who challenged him. They met, and the parties made friends.

It happened that the meantime was so notorious that a very large collection crossed the river at Vicksburg to witness it, and among them a number of boys, who were so anxious to get a full sight that they climbed up many trees about the grounds. When the seconds had planted the parties, Prentiss looked around and saw the boys in the trees, and jestingly remarked 'Boys, you had better take care; Foote shoots mighty wild.' This remark was published in the papers, and annoyed Foote to such a degree, that he again challenged Prentiss, who met him a second time. At a meeting Foote fired and missed, and Prentiss fired his pistol in the air, and the parties were again reconciled.

WASHINGTON, March 24.

Senator Sherman occupied nearly all the entire day explaining and advocating his new financial bill, introduced yesterday. Its passage, he said, would increase the banking capital of the country, and a hundred millions would be distributed among States having less than their proportion; it provides for free banking, stipulates that legal tenders shall be retired as fast as bank notes are issued, bringing the legal tenders down three hundred millions, while the national currency would be five hundred million, or the total currency eight hundred millions. The bill finds much favor as a compromise, but the passage of the four hundred million limitation by the House yesterday interferes with the chances of its success.

The latest from Boston is to the effect that Dawes and Hoar are about even.

Mr. Riggs denies that he regrets his connection with the memorialists, and hope as full examination of Districts affairs will be made.

A good wife is like a snail. Why? Because she keeps in her own house. A good wife is not like a snail. Why?—Because she does not carry her all on her back. A good wife is like a town clock. Why? Because she keeps good time. A good wife is not likes town clock. Why? Because she does not speak so loud that all the town can hear her.

BEATRICK CENCI.

The Story of a Well-known Face.

In the picture gallery of the Barberina Palace, at Rome, hangs the portrait of a young Roman girl, painted by Guido. It is a beautiful but melancholy face, whose 'soft look of sweet, sorrowful eyes' and 'touch of prison paleness,' reproduced in chromo, are so frequently seen in parlor and shop windows. For all the famous paintings in Rome, none is better known or more copied than this.—It derives peculiar interest from the history of her whose features it is said to represent.

Francesco Cenci, the head of one of the oldest and wealthiest families of Rome, was a man of violent temper, and, in his household, intolerably cruel. Two of his sons were assassinated at his instigation. At length, unable longer to endure his cruelties and tyranny, his family appealed to the Pope, Clement VIII, for protection, the petition was miscarried, and remained of course, unanswered.

On the night of the 15th of September, 1598, Francesco was murdered. He was found with an enormous nail driven into each of his eyes—a mode of assassination which indicated that at least two persons were engaged in the work. One of them was finally captured, and upon examination, charged the wife, a son, and the daughter, Beatrice, with having prompted the deed. They had, he testified, put the victim to sleep by administering a narcotic draught, and then had introduced himself and his accomplice into Francesco's chamber. They were arrested and imprisoned in the Castle of St. Angelo, where they were from time to time, as was the practice during the middle ages, subjected to the tortures of the rack to force them to confess the crime. As was frequently the case with the accused, whether guilty or not, preferring death to this lingering agony, the mother and brother made confession. But for nearly a year Beatrice continued firm in her declarations of innocence. At last a new method of torture was devised, to inflict which would make it necessary to cut off her hair, which is described as being 'the most silken, the longest, and the most marvellous in color ever seen.' At this she turned pale. 'Touch not my head,' she cried. 'Let me die without mutilation. And to save her tresses she, too, yielded.

Her beauty, the belief in her innocence, the courage she had shown, had won the sympathy and compassion of the whole Roman populace, and the Pope was besieged with petitions to grant her pardon. This he was nearly persuaded to do, when at the trial, her cause was most eloquently pleaded by the counsel appointed for the defense, and it was shown how probably a man so generally disliked and dreaded as Francesco should have had enemies outside his own house Sold to plot against his life. Other murders of similar character occurring about this time, induced the Pope to refuse pardon, and it is thought that his decision was influenced by the considerations that in the event of their condemnation the property of the prisoners would come into the possession of the church. They were, therefore, publicly executed on the piazza of the bridge of St. Angelo, September 9th, 1599. All the windows, roofs and balconies in the vicinity were filled with people to witness the scene, so great was the interest felt for the beautiful and young heroine.

The portrait by Guido is said to have been painted just before her execution, and during her confinement in prison. Her story has furnished food for many a romance, and has often been represented upon the stage. She is still generally supposed to have been innocent of connection with the crime, and for every one recalling this passage of history, the picture has a strange fascination.

William M. Evarts tells this story: "A few summers since at the urgent request of one of his younger daughters, he sent up to his country place in Vermont a donkey for her use. She had read about donkeys, but was not familiar with their peculiar vocalism. The animal's strange noises inspired her with the profoundest pity for his evident distress. So she wrote to her father: Dear papa,—I do wish you would come up here soon, my donkey is so lone. some.' As Mr. Evart renders this pathetic appeal it is irresistible."

A Nevada judge, after the jury had been impanelled and counsel ready to proceed, pulled out a revolver and judiciously remarked: 'If any man goes frolicking around the court room during the trial of this case I shall interrupt him in his career.' The desired decorum prevailed.

An old seaman at a prayer meeting, in relating his experience, stating that when at sea, in storms and tempests, he had often derived great comfort from that beautiful passage of Scripture, 'Faint heart ne'er won fair lady.'

A Georgia minister hoists a family of thirty two children, and when he takes them all to church on Sundays they occupy four whole pews, and, even then, slop over into the aisle. As a consequence, their views of divine worship are simply pew-or-aisle.

HISTORY OF THE STEEL PEN.

The early history of the steel pen is curiously obscure. The most diligent search fails to discover the first maker or the earliest date of this implement. There were steel, or rather iron pens—made, we believe, in Holland—as early as the middle of the seventeenth century.

Toward the close of the last century Mr. Harrison, an ingenious Birmingham mechanic, made steel pens for Dr. Priestly. One of these is nothing more than a tube turned out of a flat strip of metal, with the sides and points filled away in the shape of a pen. The first actual supply of such pens, it is believed—the authority for the statement is no more than local tradition—was made by a Sheffield workman, whose name is forgotten. From time to time, as far back as 1809, steel pens, hand fashioned, turned and filed, were made as curiosities or luxuries for presents; but it was not until about 1824 that such instrument were produced in considerable quantities, as regular articles of manufacture. Mr. James Perry was the first manufacturer, but the process was tedious and costly. The metal was steel, rolled out of wire, and for this Mr. Perry paid as seven shillings a pound. To the first person he employed he gave five shillings for making each pen; and even when the trade had become regular he gave for some years as thirty six shillings per gross to his workmen. Now—thanks to the machinery and modern improvements—pens, not very good perhaps, but good enough to write with, can be made and sold at a profit for three cents per gross!

A STARTLING METAMORPHOSIS.

Some one who has been viewing the Samoan jugglers, says: "One trick which Minhman performed was a very superior version of the mango-tree feat of the Indian jugglers. He took an orange, cut it open, and produced a serpent. This he took down into the audience, and borrowing a robe from one, cut the snake's head off and covered it with the robe. When the robe was lifted again a fox was in place of the snake. The fox's head was cut off, two robes borrowed, and when they were raised there was a wolf, which was killed with a sword. Three robes and a leopard appeared; it was slain with a javelin. Four robes covered a most savage-looking buffalo, that was killed with an axe. Five robes covered in part but not altogether a lordly elephant, who, when a sword was pointed at him, seized Minhman by the neck and tossed him violently up. He mounted feet foremost, and finally clung by his toes to the capital of one of the columns. Tepada now leaped from the stage and alighted on the elephant's shoulders. With a short sword he goaded the beast on the head until, shrieking, the unwieldy reared upon his hind feet, twined his trunk about one of the great columns, and seemed trying to lift itself from the ground and wrap its body around the great pillar. The music clashed out barbarously, Norodom flashed forth a dazzling firework of some sort, and Tepada lay upon the stage writhing in the folds of a great boa constrictor, and holding up Minhman upon his feet.

THE CODE IN YOUNG LOUISIANA.

We copy the following account of the singular termination of a juvenile duel at New Orleans, from the Times of that city:

For some time this community has happily been free from the influences of the Code, but it has just come out that on Tuesday it was briefly revived through the mediums of two youths, aged respectively sixteen and fifteen.

For some reason, as yet unexplained, but in all probability a reason with a female at the bottom of it, one of these youngsters issued to the other a challenge, daring him to mortal combat. The defiance was promptly accepted, the City Park selected as the place, sunset on Tuesday evening as the time, and lo, at the appointed hour appeared there principals and seconds, eager for the fray. But mark the singular result.

While the seconds conferred apart, touching preliminaries, one of the principals, with a rapidity of movement that was positively bewildering, suddenly drawing from beneath his coat-tails a stout rawhide, rushed upon his opponent, and straightway began to belabor him most sorely, to not only the victim's intense astonishment, but to his dire mortification and physical distress.

Before either he or the seconds could collect their shattered senses, the assailant had bruised his foe even to helplessness, which having done, he quickly mounted his horse, in waiting, and was off on the wings of the wind, leaving his fallen rival to groan over his misfortunes and the seconds stupefied with amazement, from which, however, they have by this time luckily recovered. Further than this the deponent saith not.

A mine car, containing ten men, was descending the slope of Lloyd, Glover & Co.'s colliery, at Phœnix Park; Pa; Sunday morning, the rope broke and the car fell, instantly killing John McCabe, John Davis and Archie McMichael. The seven others received injuries not thought to be serious.

ANECDOTE OF AN ELEPHANT.

The Leisure Hour, an English magazine, tells this touching story, as related by Major Brown of the 48th regiment. During the siege of Pondicherry, in the East Indies by the British army, when M. Lally was governor there, there was in the French garrison several fine elephants, all of which except one died from the scarcity of provisions, and the survivor would have shared the fate of the companions but for his uncommon ingenuity, which rendered him a favorite with every one, and the object of general admiration. This animal, in the absence of his keeper, was one day amusing himself with his chain in an open part of the town, when a man who had committed a theft, and was pursued by a great number of people, desperate of all other means of safety, ran for protection under the elephant. Apparently delighted with the poor wretch's confidence, the creature instantly looked about and met the crowd, erected his trunk, and threw his chain in the air, as is the manner of these animals when engaged with the enemy, and became so furious in defence of the criminal that, notwithstanding all the gentle arts made use of by the surrounding multitude, neither they nor, even his mahout or driver, to whom he was fondly attached, and who was sent for to manage him, could prevail with him to give up the malefactor. The contest had continued for about three hours, when at length the governor, hearing the strange account of it, came to the spot, and was so much pleased with the generous perseverance of the honest quadruped that he yielded to the elephant's interposition, and pardoned the criminal. The poor man, in an ecstasy of gratitude, testified his acknowledgments by kissing and embracing the proboscis of his kind benefactor, who was apparently as sensible of what had happened that, laying aside all his former violence, he became perfectly tame and gentle in an instant, and suffered his keeper to conduct him away without the smallest reluctance.

The following easy examination of candidates for admission to the bar is taken from the Western Law Journal. The examination commenced with:

'Do you smoke?'

'I do sir.'

'Have you a spare cigar?'

'I have sir.' [Extends a short six.]

'Now sir, what is the first duty of a lawyer?'

'Collect fees, sir.'

'Right. What is the second?'

'To increase the number of clients.'

'When does the position towards clients change?'

'When making out a bill of costs.'

'Explain.'

'We then occupy the antagonistic position. I become the plaintiff and he becomes the defendant.'

'Suit decided. How do you stand with the lawyer on the other side?'

'Cheek by jowl.'

'Enough sir. You promise to be an ornament to your profession, and I wish you success. Now, are you aware of the duty you owe me?'

'Perfectly.'

'Describe it.'

'It is to invite you to take a drink.'

'But suppose I decline?'

Candidate scratches his head.

'There is no instance of the kind on record in the books. I cannot answer the question.'

'You are right. And the confidence with which you make the assertion shows conclusively that you read the law attentively. Let's take a drink, and I will sign your certificate at once.'

A few evenings ago a certain young man went to spend the evening with his affianced. During the evening he told a few stories and called them tales. The lady reproved him, and told him he should say 'anecdotes.' After a short time he went out to see his horse. When he returned she asked him how the horse was getting along. 'Oh! he's all right, only the calves have chawed off his anecdote.'

The distress from famine in Bengal is increasing, and many thousand of natives are dependent upon the Government for food. Tirhoot district 100,000 persons, all of whom were in an emaciated condition, have made application for relief within the last ten days.

A Dutch Congressman remarked: 'Yen I was elected I thought I could find dem all Solomons down here, but I found dere vas some as pick fools here as anywhere.'

'I am afraid, dear wife, that while I am gone, absence will conquer love.' 'Never fear, dear; the longer you stay away, the better I shall like you.'

The Alabama river lacks only two inches of being as high as in the July flood of 1872, and is still rising.

ADEN, March 24.—The steamer Calcutta, with Dr. Livingston's remains, has arrived here.

Hillsborough Recorder.

WEDNESDAY ... APRIL 1, 1874.

THE COMING CAMPAIGN.

It is time that the [illegible] taken in connection with the nominations for the August election. The time is not so very remote, that it can be wasted in inaction.

There is much to be done, not only as regards the selection of [illegible] but in diffusing information among the people counteracting prejudicial influences, combating false statements, and disseminating right doctrine.

There is much circumspection to be used by the Conservative party in its movements during the campaign. The radical party of this State will use every effort to divert the minds of the people from the true issues, to work upon their prejudices, to arraign all the short comings of the Legislature, and to ride again into power upon the idea of the failure of the conservative party to accomplish all that was expected from it.

But if our party is active and vigilant it will not permit the diversion to be made. It has a good and valid defence for all its failures and disappointments. It can point to the accomplishment of real and substantial good to the people and the State. It can claim a restoration of honesty and economy in the administration of the affairs of the State government, and is absolutely free from any taint of that corruption which was the immediate cause of the overthrow of the radical party in 1870.

There is no party, there is no man, who is absolutely faultless; there is none which does not incur at some time the disapprobation of friends, or the censure of enemies. But in its essential features, the Conservative party has been true to itself and to its pledges. It still retains for its name, firmness and its purity unsullied.

And here is the great distinction between the two parties. It is upon this ground that the battle is now being fought at the North. The people are rising in their wrath to overthrow the colossal fabric of corruption which is sapping their fortunes and cramping their liberties. The moral sense has been so outraged, that it can no longer endure the shame of an administration, venal, extravagant, corrupt; or of a party whose whole legislation is directed to the robbery of the people and the protection of the spoilers.

The party is falling to pieces from its very corruption. Honest men who have adhered to it from devotion to its abstract, but impracticable principles are abandoning it in disgust.

Is it not then a most impudent aspiration in a party, thus stricken, disgraced, corrupt, to seek popular confidence again? But the people will never forget the flush times of the disgraceful period of 1868-9, nor be deceived by any pretence of reformation in a party which, whenever it has power, shows itself essentially the same.

But it is time something was begun. The people must be awakened from indifference, which will be as fatal as hostility. They must be informed of the real issues before the country, and they must be aroused to an interest in public affairs, without which the privilege of the ballot is a farce and the preservation of liberty an impossibility.

THE SOUND RAIL ROAD.

We regret to learn from the Journal and Star, that the voice of the people of Wilmington, as expressed through the ballot box on the 23rd inst. was against the subscription by the city to the projected Railway to the Sound. The opposition arose in a great degree from an unwillingness to increase the burden of taxation, which in truth, is enormous, and partly to a failure to appreciate the advantages to arise from the opening such an avenue to the sea shore.

It is much to be regretted, but few great schemes ever present themselves to all alike. There are always great minds in every community far ahead of the comprehension of the majority of the citizens. Their impatient and ungodly intelligence leaps to conclusions which it takes the slow, plodding clouded brains of the multitudes, years of study or of teaching to comprehend.

Let the projectors of the enterprise have patience. Let them bide their time. The project has merit which will force itself upon the understanding of the masses after awhile. Light will break upon them, and they will recognise as a necessity what they now condemn as visionary.

A PLUCKY PEOPLE.

Our Wilmington correspondent in his jubilant anticipation of a favorable vote upon the measure, asks if 'our little city, depressed as she is from the effect of the panic, has not shown more real, more enterprise and more indomitable will and courage, than any other of its size still populated in the United States?'

We answer, that a people that carried through the construction of the Wilmington and Weldon R. R. at a time when its [illegible] was not a fifth of what it is now, when the practicability of such ventures was less experimental, and when in fact, it was [illegible] with difficulty by the most experienced; a people, that afterwards built the Wilmington and Manchester road, thereby bringing Wilmington in the great line of interior communication; a people that undertook the W. C. & R. R. R. with a view of tapping at no distant day the communications of the great West; a people, in fact, who result to populations, have made their little city the converging point of three great lines, may be depended upon in any enterprise, short of tunnelling the Atlantic.

The crowning work remains to be done, the improvement of their river, and the adaptation of their port to its increasing foreign trade. When this is done, they may fold their hands with gratified complacency. But, finis opus coronat, and nothing material is gained till that is done.

CUBA.

Since the interest in the Virginius affair of the early part of the past winter, which promised at one time to involve this country in a war with Spain, has died out, public attention has scarcely been turned in the direction of Cuba. Now and then some striking incident such as the returns of the stowaways by the captain of the steamship New York to the authorities at Havana, awake interest again.

If anything could revive flagging interest, it would be the appointment of Gen. Concha to be Captain General, and the reward of the butcher Burriel with a Marshal's baton.

Concha is an old man, upwards of 74, was formerly Captain General, and is a type of that class of Spanish rulers who govern with out the restraints of responsibility. His authority is now made absolutely supreme. Burriels advancement and reward, shows the supreme contempt the Spaniards have for the United States, and their haughty defiance of the sentiment of the civilized world.

The future of the patriots is dark indeed.

HAVE WE A PROPHET AMONG US.

The New York Graphic in its last issue heralds the portentous anticipations of a prophet under the assumed name Jeremiah.

According to him, a mild winter is to be followed by a cold spring destroying the crops, and producing distress and famine. On the heels of famine will follow pestilence, cholera will scourge the country through its length and breadth, and fevers and epidemics will rage on every side. Earthquakes will shake the solid fabric of our land; and volcanoes will burst out from our hitherto quiet mountains. Our cities will be shattered, and New York the great centre of wealth and wickedness will be swallowed up by the earthquake or engulphed by a tidal wave.

Jeremiah is a badly scared man, and would have come down from the Stone Mountain faster than Woodson or Cowardin did when frightened by the rumblings of the incipient volcano.

BALD OR STONE MOUNTAIN.

There is just enough of truth in the reports of commotion to justify the interest on the subject, and not enough to feed the passion for novelty and excitement so characteristic of the American people. Those living in the neighborhood are alarmed, as well they may be, from the unwonted movements and noises of their mountains heretofore so quiet. But the fact that these commotions have existed two months without increase, and without destructive action, would argue, that they will pass away without damage.

The theory of volcanic action, that it is confined to islands or to the vicinity of the coast, is borne out by observation, and it would be a wide departure from nature's laws to see an eruption far in the interior. Such a thing, is not impossible, but it is unlikely.

It is more than probable, that we will fail to get up such a sensation as will make North Carolina famous for a rebellion against geological theories, and against the established practice of the Universe.

The disturbances still continue, but without noticeable increase. Some gentlemen of science are near the spot, and intelligent report and explanation may soon be expected.

MARKETS.

Business during the last week was active everywhere, the weather being suitable to the handling of tobacco. But though sales were large, there is a great similarity of prices as compared with the quotations of the previous week.

Richmond, no change of moment, and omit quotations.

DANVILLE, March 28th.

S. H. Holland & Co. report that while sales are large and business active, there are no quotable changes in prices.

The Hillsboro Market has been active during the last week, and good breaks on four days of the week. The quality offered was however [illegible] but ruling good prices:

Lugs, red com.	3.00 to 3.50
" medium to good	4.00 to 5.00
" bright, com.	4.00 to 5.00
" medium to good,	5.00 to 10.00
Leaf red com.	4.50 to 5.50
" medium,	5.00 to 7.00
" good,	7.00 to 8.50
" bright Ellers, com.	4.50 to 6.50
" " " med.	6.00 to 7.00
" " " good,	7.00 to 10.50
" wrappers com.	8.00 to 13.50
" " med.	10.00 to 25.00
" " good.	35.00 to 45.00

No fine offering, but badly sorted.

No report from Durham.

COTTON.—The good feeling of the previous week is continued, and though there is no advance in prices, the market continues firm and demand well sustained:

Raleigh, March 28th Low middlings in demand at 14½ to 14¾.

Wilmington 28th, low middlings 14¼. Middling 15¼.

Norfolk, 27th, Low middlings 15.

INDEPENDENT GRANGE,

Cash System

BEGINS AT THE

BRICK STORE

Monday April 20th 1874.

I HAVE been selling GOODS on my own account for three years and what I have made is on my books, which does me no good. I can not meet my indebtedness with these accounts.

THE CREDIT SYSTEM

Operates INJURIOUSLY only to the

HONEST MAN.

In doing this credit business, we have to sell good at MORE THAN THEIR VALUE to the

CASH AND PAYING MEN

to protect ourselves against those who do not pay. We have parties owing us fifty to five hundred dollars who have been eating meat two to eighteen months; they come in and price an article and then blow you up, and want to know why it is they can sell to Hargis or some other little town and buy it at a

LESS PRICE.

The reason is, you send the money to pay for it, and have got no tied so fast that I would sell you or others at these prices. I am tired of hearing of what can be done at other points.

I shall go to work and

PRICE MY GOODS AT CASH VALUE

AND SELL AT ONE PRICE.

I want every one that puts a lot what they buy to help me out in this new undertaking by coming in, and see what difference the CASH system will make in his years supply.

I will take such BARTER as I can handle at CASH prices.

I give this notice in time so as to treat all alike. I dont want to lose any Customers, but if I do, I do it in self defence. I do'nt like to ruin myself.

To my Customers

That have been running accounts and paying promptly, I will say, that it is to your interest to help me out in this matter by paying in future, for which you get the difference in prices will enable you to save 25 per cent in twelve months.

In the first place if you pay Cash you will buy a great deal less than if you had a running account, and secondly, you will buy for 25 per cent less. To the party that always pays when they purchase I will say it is the scheme for you.

You have been paying for others' bad debts.

And I am determined now that your money shall bring its worth.

Remember April 20th

CASH SYSTEM BEGINS,

GOOD BARTER TAKEN AT CASH PRICES.

I AM receiving the NICEST Read

SPRING GOODS

That I have yet shown you. Accounts unpaid on April the 20th had better be looked after they must be settled up some way. NO SALE for BARTER. Don't call any more.

Time Tests the Merits of all Things.

1840 Over Thirty Years 1872.

PERRY DAVIS'

PAIN-KILLER,

HAS been tested in every variety of climate and by almost every nation known to Americans. It is the constant companion and inestimable friend of the missionary and the traveler, on sea or land, and in the shops and of our Lakes or Rivers without it.

Since the PAIN KILLER was first introduced and fast with such extensive sale, many Liniments, Remedies, Panacea's, and other Remedies have been offered to the public, but not one of them has ever obtained the steady, unshaken confidence of the PAIN KILLER.

WHY IS THIS SO?

It is because DAVIS' PAIN KILLER is what it claims to be a Reliver of Pain.

Its Merits are Unsurpassed.

If you are suffering from INTERNAL PAIN, Twenty to Thirty Drops in a little Water will almost instantly cure you. There is nothing to equal it for Colic, Cramps, Spasms, Heart burn, Diarrhea, Dysentery, Flux, Wind in the Bowels, Sour Stomach, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache.

In all of the country where

FEVER AND AGUE

prevails, there is no remedy held in greater esteem. Persons traveling should keep it by them. A few drops in water, will prevent sickness or bowel troubles from change of water.

Many Foreign countries the said for PAIN Killer are great. It is found to Cure Cholera when all other remedies fail.

When used Externally as a Liniment, nothing gives quicker ease to Burns, Cuts Bruises, Sprains, Stings from Insects, Scalds, &c removes the fire, and the wound heals like other sores. Those afflicted with RHEUMATISM, GOUT, or NEURALGIA, if not a positive cure, they find the PAIN-KILLER gives them relief when no other remedy will.

It gives instant relief from Aching Teeth.

Every House-Keeper should keep it at hand and apply it on the first attack of any Pain. It will give satisfactory relief, and save suffering.

Do not trifle with yourself by testing untried remedies. Be sure you call for and get the genuine PAIN KILLER, as many worthless counterfeits are often tried to be sold on the great reputation of this valuable Medicine.

Directions accompany each bottle.

Price 25c., 50c., and $1 per Bottle.

Hon W. A. Graham of this place has been selected by the committee of the Virginia Legislature to which was referred the question of the disputed boundary line between Virginia and Maryland, to act as the arbitrator on the part of Virginia. Maryland is to choose one to act for her, and these two are to select another to act in conjunction with them.

The names of Horatio Seymour of New York, John A. Campbell of Ala. W. A. Croasdale of Ohio, and W. A. Graham were discussed before the Committee. After a full discussion of their respective merits the latter gentleman was chosen.

Pogue's new factory is in full activity He is manufacturing from 20 to 25 boxes a day which is a good beginning, considering that many of his hands are entirely new and inexperienced.

His factory is fully supplied with the most approved machinery, hydraulic presses &c, all from the factory of Talbot & Sons, Richmond, one of our Advertisers, of whose establishment we could speak in too high terms.

See Ad, of C. M. Parks. He has struck the right key note at last. Bad customers make high prices for the prompt dealer. Charlie proposes to cut the Gordian knot by a bold stroke. Sustain him in his plans, and make cheap goods for our market.

Pursuant to the notice published in the last issue of the Recorder, quite a number of the citizens of Hillsboro, township assembled in the Court House on Saturday the 28th ult.

On motion of A. W. Graham, the meeting was organized by calling Mr. Jas. Southgate to the Chair.

Mr. [illegible] Cameron then explained the object of the meeting to be to discuss the act of the last Legislature authorizing the people of the different townships to vote upon the question of license or no license to the sale of spirituous liquors, and in a very able and interesting manner called against the license system.

Mr. Southgate being called on, made a few excellent remarks upon temperance in general and this act in particular.

On motion of R. F. Brown a Committee consisting of Messrs. J. D. Cameron, D. D. Williss, and A. W. Graham was appointed to invite Mrs. Robert Bingham to deliver a lecture in this town on the first of May upon the subject of temperance.

The meeting then adjourned.

Byrtus Wiley Grandy Sr. the founder of the well-known and popular Commission House of C. W. Grandy & Son died at his residence on Grandy street last Wednesday evening, aged 76 years.

He was born in Camden County North Carolina in 1798, and came to Norfolk in 1813. He was a gentleman of indomitable energy and sterling integrity. At a meeting of the merchants held Friday morning a series of resolutions were adopted expressive of the great loss sustained by them in his death. His funeral which took place Friday afternoon was very largely attended, and he was followed to the grave by a large concourse of relatives and friends including the members of the Norfolk L. A. Blues, the President and Board of Directors of the Merchants and Mechanics Savings Bank and the Virginia Club. A good man has passed away but his life may be fitly studied by the rising generation of young business men as worthy of their emulation.

The United States District Court, Judge R. W. Hughes presiding, has been in session several days but only one case of special interest has been decided viz: that of Blick Jakeman [illegible] bankrupts. The $500 Congressional exemption was allowed. This allowance was exclusive of the poor debtors exemption which had already been set apart to them.

The Landmark, an ardent defender and supporter of the material interests of Norfolk and of the State, has of late published several highly interesting and gratifying tabular statements showing that our city ranks third among the great cotton ports of the country. We clip the following from last Tuesday's issue showing the amount of cotton received at the principal ports of the United States for the five days ending March 10th inclusive.

New Orleans	20,491
Savannah	8,913
Norfolk	7,941
New York	5,173
Charleston	5,049
Galveston	4,280
Mobile	3,382
Philadelphia	741
Wilmington	722
Baltimore	240
Boston	205

An equally gratifying statement was published in this paper a short time ago regarding our commerce. Our citizens and the friends of Norfolk everywhere have cause to rejoice at these indisputable proofs of the rapidly increasing importance of our beautiful city.

A citizens meeting held in the city hall last Saturday a Constitution was submitted and adopted for a new agricultural society to be called "the Portsmouth Agricultural and Mechanical Society." A meeting will be held at the same place next Saturday to elect officers and to institute preparations for a grand Fair next fall.

This will supersede the Virginia and North Carolina Agricultural Society which for reasons not necessary to publish has been disbanded.

With many good wishes for the prosperity of our newly elected sister we remain yours &c. JUVENTS.

WILMINGTON.

Our Wilmington Correspondence.

WILMINGTON, March 28th 1874.

Dear Mr. Editor—I regret being compelled to state here that I was over-sanguine in my last letter to you in relation to the subscription on the part of the city to the proposed railroad to the Sound. The election took place last Monday, and the matter was voted down by a vote of 339 for, and 687 against the measure.

The proposition to donate $4000 to the Cape Fear Agricultural Association was was also voted down by a still larger majority. The only political issue that entered into the contest was in the fact that several very black negroes, but influential probably from the fact of their very extreme ignorance, worked and voted against the two measures, because proposed by "Democrats," and yet a great many of these ignorant opponents of the two measures say they were going to be most benefitted by them. They pay no taxes, not even a poll tax, and the subscription to both schemes, which results in taxation to themselves would not have cost them a red cent. Would that we were as well off in North Carolina as they are in Virginia, where no man can vote unless he first pays his poll tax of one dollar.

It is true that a great many white men of property exerted themselves against the success of the election. They had the intelligence to comprehend the merits of the issue at stake, and, as they were the men upon whom the burden of increased taxation would fall, they were perfectly justifiable in their opposition. Besides, there were other good reasons why they did not wish the election carried.

Yet even in the face of this great discouragement the contest still continues to be taken in hand the building of the road are more than ever determined to carry the scheme through to a successful issue. A meeting of the various committees on subscription was held last night, and we are in hopes from the favorable terms adopted by them that the road will soon be built. They are to meet together again next Monday evening, when it is hoped there will be enough reported in the way of subscriptions to justify the assertion that the road will be built.

This a charming day, and as we write, we look out of the open window at our elbow, and can see the advent of spring everywhere. The trees and the earth are fast clothing themselves in their suits of "Lincoln Green," and the flowers are modestly peeping forth to know if spring has yet arrived. The woods around are filled with the beautiful yellow jessamine, the fragrance where it is blooming almost every house in the city.

The work of improving our river and bar goes steadily on. A powerful dredge-boat with a lifting capacity of twenty five tons, is now at work near Big Island, about nine miles below the city, where it is engaged in bringing up from the muddy bottom those huge logs, which have so long been a serious impediment to the navigation of the river.

The health of our city is remarkably good, considering the frequent and decided changes of temperature that we have been blessed with of late.

Almost all of the merchants have gone North—[illegible]d it, while all the mountains come to Nationist Instead of Mahomet going to the mountains to lay in their new stock. Some of the spring goods are already arriving, and we hope [illegible] for a good trade this spring.

Yours,
CAPE FEAR.

Gay Tobacco Markets &c

Last week there was more activity exhibited here in the trade, than at any time since the beginning of the warehouse system. On Tuesday, the streets were crowded with wagons, and the warehouse filled to overflowing. Sales were active and [illegible] satisfactory. They could have been entirely so, for prices in proportion to quality, ruled higher than any where else.

One chief obstacle to the development of Hillsboro into a great produce market is the want of money. Apart from the present stringency in the money market and which of course, controls business more or less, the facilities of buyers here are not what they should be, nor what they might be if more capital were made of the capital here, and the purchases thereto-fore granted by the Legislature.

We want a BANK, and the place will never duly prosper until it has one. There must be a resource at hand upon which not only the purchaser of tobacco may fall back, but upon which the merchant in his need may rely, and the mechanic call upon for aid in his schemes of improvement.

The effort to obtain the capital was very nearly successful last year. It only failed by the indifference of some, or the selfish hostility of others.

Now let the effort be renewed. We think the failure of the first effort has aroused some from their indifference, and shown them the [illegible] folly of [illegible] pliancess, and certainly there will be a more determined effort to counteract the opposition which comes from individual self interest.

It is a matter of wonder to strangers, who see the great advantages of Hillsboro, in location and in health, that she has permitted herself to be outstripped by younger communities, and to see her field

DR. D. S. PERRY'S,

VEGETABLE AROMATIC

BITTERS.

THESE Bitters must become the universal remedy of the age. There is nothing like them or to equal them under the sun. They restore the weak, invigorate the feeble, and give new life and tone to the broken down system. In miasmatic and malarious districts they are worth a ship load of Quinine powders and pills. They are especially adapted to persons suffering from Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Costiveness, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Chills and Fever and Piles.

TO DELICATE FEMALES,

Ladies, old or young, will find these Bitters especially adapted to diseases peculiar to their sex. Nervousness, Lassitude, Want of Appetite and General Debility, all yield to the magic cheriff of these inestimable Bitters.

"Wonderful effects have resulted from your Dr. PERRY'S Bitters."

"My Chills are gone. I can hardly believe it."

"Send me one more Perry's Bitters again. Nothing like them here."

"I enclose affidavit of my cure. I had to do so to convince you of the wonderful cure."

"Surely they are the most delightful tonic in the world."

"Dr. Wilson says that you are a public benefactor."

"Hurrah! No more Rheumatism."

"No more headache, thanks to you."

We could fill this paper twice over with just such genuine extracts, but the above must suffice. Our Bitters are prepared under the supervision of Dr. D. S. PERRY, Member of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons, London, England, and of the Medical Clubs of Glasgow.

All orders should be address to the

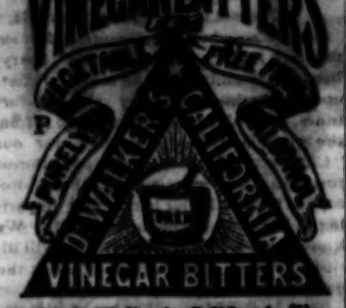
VINEGAR BITTERS



Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs in Bilious Diseases.

The properties of Dr. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

CONSUMPTION

which can be cured by a timely resort to this standard preparation, as has been proved by the hundreds of testimonials received by the proprietors. It is acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most reliable preparation ever introduced for the relief and cure of all Lung complaints, and is offered to the public, sanctioned by the experience of over forty years. When resorted to in season it seldom fails to effect a speedy cure in the most severe cases of Coughs, Bronchitis, Croup, Whooping Cough, Influenza, Asthma, Colds, Sore Throat, Pains or Soreness in the Chest and Side, Liver Complaint, Bleeding at the Lungs, &c. Wistar's Balsam does not dry up a Cough, and leave the cause behind, as is the case with most preparations, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs, and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint.
